CONGRESS IS EAGER TO END
BY JUNE 20TH

May Abandon Many Important Measures in Effort to Speed Adjournment

TABLE FARM MEASURES

Administration Must Decide What Issues Shall Be Given Priority

Washington—There has developed in congress a feverish desire to adjourn. This always seizes the membership in May but it is not always possible to abandon a legislative program and depart for home, especially in a year of congressional elections. But congress is restive. The house of representatives having decisively tabled farm relief legislation, the senate hesitates to lay out a program that will involve even brief consideration of farm relief for fear there may come a tangle and protracted debate. Many senators, however, would like the opportunity to make speeches pointing out how anxious they individually were to see legislation enacted that would help the farmers. Some of these speeches for the record have already been prepared in advance but when the house unceremoniously swept all farm relief proposals off the boards, the senators were taken by surprise.

There is talk of passing the Aswell-Curtis bill which involves the minimum of objection and will give the administration something concrete with which to answer those who claim no serious effort was made to push through farm legislation. If the house should have an opportunity to vote on the Aswell-Curtis bill, apart from other proposals there is no doubt the measure would pass. The opportunity may yet come if the senate passes the same bill and the house has the chance to accept the senate bill. The consensus of opinion is that if a simple farm relief measure can be presented to both houses in the last few minutes of play, so to speak, the administration will have a good chance of pushing the measure over the line.

URGE SEVERAL ISSUES

But the real decision must be made by the administration as to what shall be given priority. Mr. Mellon would like to see the French war debt agreement ratified at this session and Secretary Kellogg of the Department of State wants the senate to ratify the treaty of Lausanne renewing diplomatic relations with Turkey. The Democrats say they will block ratification. All that is necessary to side-track the treaty is one more than a third of the senate membership and even this is not necessary if the action is requested near adjournment time and members decide they want to speak at length on a proposal. And there are indications that the Turkish treaty would be filibustered rather than permit it to come to a vote. The same is more or less true of the French debt settlement which is hardly likely to be adopted unless the administration abandons everything else including farm relief and makes a determined effort to secure its adoption. There are many important measures on which individual members would like to see action but congress wants to get away and the opportunities for filibustering are few. John Kobussen, Police
Officer, Kills Himself
After Shooting At Wife

Years of Domestic Strife Ends in Tragedy at Policeman's Home

After he shot at his wife and missed her, John E. Kobussen of the Appleton police department, at 10:40 Wednesday evening turned his .38 police revolver upon himself and sent a bullet into his right temple, dying almost instantly.

Domestic trouble of long standing between Mr. and Mrs. Kobussen caused the attempted murder and the suicide. Mrs. Kobussen was in her night clothes preparing to sleep with her 14-year-old daughter who was already in bed, when Kobussen entered the room. A serious altercation followed, during which Mrs. Kobussen seated herself on the side of the bed while Kobussen stood at its foot, according to the story told to the police.

Enraged beyond self-control, the policeman suddenly threw up his revolver and shot at Mrs. Kobussen, who fell to the floor in terror. The bullet failed to touch her and she lay on the floor for some time. Kobussen then, instantly turned the revolver upon himself and fell where he stood. The daughter terrified rolled out of bed on the floor on the opposite side. A son, 13, had been asleep in another room.

Mrs. Kobussen at once telephoned the police department and a physician and Chief George T. Finn hurried to the home after notifying John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney and Dr. H. E. Pillsworth, Outagamie county coroner. The physician stated that Kobussen had died within five minutes after the bullet entered his temple.

LOCKED WIFE OUT
The altercation which ended in tragedy grew on a quarrel at about 5 o'clock, when the policeman forbade his wife to leave the house, threatening to lock her out. Mrs. Kobussen ignored the threat and left the house. Upon her return, shortly before the tragedy, she found the door locked and entered through a window. Kobussen heard his wife in her room and entered revolver in hand. The shots were fired after an exchange of heated words.

Arkansas Officers Are Unable to Prevent Crowd from Taking Prisoner

He said that after hanging the negro the members of the mob returned to town quietly and "went to bed." He anticipated no further disorders.

Officers intended to take the negro to Mlytheville, or Osceola Thursday for safekeeping. Following the attack which occurred when the victim and two girl companions strayed from a school picnic, bloodhounds were taken to the scene and trailed the negro, who was later identified by his victim.

GOLF MATCH

Jess Sweetser Is Only Other American Player to Survive Tournament

Muir Field, Scotland—(AP)—Bobby Jones and Jess Sweetser were the lone American survivors after the smoke of battle had cleared from the links for the fourth day of the British Amateur Golf championship. Although they lost their comrade Watts Gunn of Atlanta, they took their toll in revenge. Jones, the youthful American champion, simply overwhelmed the defending British title holder, Robert Harris, eight up and six to play, and Thursday was the strongest outstanding possibility for the championship. Sweetser's game lacked the sparkle of Bobby's, but he came through by defeating Allan D. Cave, Oxford captain, two and one. Gunn was eliminated three and two by W. G. Brownlow.

Robert Scott, Jr., defeated the Hon Michael Scott two and one, and will come against Jess Sweetser Friday for the right to enter the semifinals.

HUGHES SAYS
SCIENCE CAN HELP SAVE OIL

Doesn't Favor Political Regulation of Production for Conservation

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Encouragement of scientific effort rather than political regulation of production, was suggested as the best oil conservation policy for the government by Charles Evans Hughes in an address Thursday before the federal oil conservation board. The former secretary of State represented the American petroleum institute.

"Political action," he asserted, "is superficially attractive, but difficult and unlikely to succeed. Something might be accomplished by removing legal obstacles to intelligent cooperation. Scientific effort holds the promise of the future. The cracking process has done more for conservation than any legislative scheme could do under our constitution."

He cited figures to show that the cracking process, by which crude oil is made into gasoline, had doubled the nation's potential gasoline resources.

Over-production and uneconomic consumption, Mr. Hughes said are the principal factors operating against oil conservation. There is no actual waste after the oil is produced but much of it might be kept in the ground. He declared that federal legislation to regulate production directly would be unconstitutional and state legislation to this end would be injurious unless it were uniform.

RESCUE 50 MEN
FROM FLAMES
IN MINE FIRE

Uncertain as to Number of Coal Workers Trapped Near Scranton, Pa.

Scranton, Pa.—(AP)—More than 50 men trapped in a burning mine Thursday were rescued after being caught behind the fire for several hours.

They were trapped in the second level of the Mount Lookout mine of the Temple Coal Co., at Wyoming when fire started between them and the shaft.

There were 320 men in the various levels when the fire started but all escaped except those in the second level. They (they immediately) joined in the work of rescue. It was reported the second level had but the one opening.

Miner workers familiar with the scene of the fire made various estimates of the number of men caught. Some said 65 were in the mine and others said as many as 80. The five men who managed to escape came out on a mine motor, the motor runner driving it through the flames to the shaft fifty feet beyond.

One rescue worker was injured by a falling timber.

Mine Inspector Edward Curtis said his checkup showed 52 men unaccounted for.

HOUSE BOARD
URGES CHANGE
IN DRY LAWS

Ask Manufacture, Sale and Transportation on Non-intoxicating Drinks

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—A proposal similar to that on which New York is to vote in November will form the backbone of the campaign to be conducted during the remainder of this session by the unofficial house committee for modification of the Volstead act.

Taking concerted action in the midst of the revived prohibition controversy the 60 representatives making up the group have agreed to devote their efforts to amendment of the dry law to permit "manufacture, sale, transportation, importation or exportation of beverages which are not in fact intoxicating as determined in accordance with the laws of the respective states."

A committee of four, comprising members of the house judiciary committee which last year pigeonholed all of the 275 per cent beer bills sponsored by the modificationists, was named to draft a bill carrying the liberalization proposal and the entire group is to join in the drive for action on it. The possibility of enactment is considered remote, but it is likely to form a vehicle for a great deal of argument.

New York is the only state which thus far has determined upon a referendum on such a proposal.

While the house modificationists are sharpening their new legislative spear, the senate judiciary committee will get to work under the King resolution to determine whether it agrees with Attorney General Sargent and a number of dry members of congress that President Coolidge's order authorizing appointment of state, county and city peace officers as federal enforcement agents is valid under the constitution.

TRIES TO MEND

Governor to Replace Whitman, Warden at Penitentiary, With Elmer Green

JURY CENSORS JENKINS

Refuses to Tell Whether He Will Dismiss Other Officers in Pardon Scandal

Springfield—(AP)—John L. Whitman, warden of the state prison at Joliet will be removed from office by Governor Small Thursday and he will be succeeded temporarily by Elmer Green state superintendent of prisons, according to the Springfield State Journal. This plan was the result of a confession Wednesday night and the first move in an effort to restore the morale of the state prison at which Deputy Warden Klein was killed when seven convicts made their escape.

The removal of Whitman was recommended by the Willco grand jury in a report filed Wednesday. Judge C. H. Jenkins, director of the state department of public welfare who also was censured by the grand jury's report, returned to this city Wednesday night and immediately went into conference with Governor Small.

While the formal announcement of the decision of the governor to remove Whitman was made it was said that Green had been ordered to report to Joliet for duty.

The governor was silent on requests made in the course of the day for the removal of Judge Jenkins and Will Colvin head of the state division of paroles.

TAXES INJURE
STATE INDUSTRY

Badger Manufacturers Can't Compete With Companies Whose Burdens Are Lower

Madison—(AP)—Although Wisconsin manufacturers are taxed at a lower rate than other groups in the state, they have the heaviest burden because of competition with industry in other states where taxes are lower. Prof. John R. Commons, University of Wisconsin economist, told the legislative interim committee here Wednesday.

He submitted for the committee consideration a new scheme of taxation, embodying largely the single land tax principle. The plan contemplated the shifting of the burden of taxation from personal and earned income to unearned property income—the profit resulting from automatic increase of land values. He explained that land in the cities increased in value to a greater extent than farm lands, and that farmers thus would be relieved.

Dudley Montgomery, Madison, suggested uniform valuation of public utility properties. Hugh Harper of the Wisconsin farm bureau asked for relief from "excessive" taxes of farmers in joint high school districts.

Manure, Schneider, Green Bay, charged with speeding, and Emil Verch, Milwaukee, alleged to have been running his car with an open muffler, did not appear.

water power, etc., is still left in the hands of the government," he said.

"Opponents of the Progressive movement forget, however, that while our former leader, Senator Robert M. LaFollette has passed on, the Wisconsin spirit which has, for many years, been implanted in the hearts of the people of our state, continues to live and that the Progressives of Wisconsin, when faced with the enemy, will unite in their battle against the encroachment of 'special privileges' with even greater determination than ever before, that the victory won for them by the late Senator LaFollette may continue to be theirs," he said.

The enemies of the Progressive movement in the state already are at work. They are determined to break up the movement to which the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette so laboriously and faithfully gave his whole life.

LACK OF PRAYER IN U. S. SHOCKS ALL ORIENTALS

Yellow Race Is More Devout
Than Is Christian, Speaker
Declares

"The biggest disappointment to an Oriental, who is visiting the United States, is the lack of prayer and the lack of provision for prayer by the people of this country," said Miss Esther Miller who spoke on Prayer Life of the Individual, at the Women's Missionary meeting of First Methodist church Tuesday afternoon in the Social Union room.

Miss Miller said the Oriental people are much more devout in their religion than are Christians of the United States or the Occident. The black men and women of today are all busy and busy and have efficiency experts to help them save time, and yet they never find a spare minute for prayer, one of the biggest things in life," said Miss Miller. She cited the day during the world war when the entire United States knelt in prayer and how after that day the tide turned and a short time later the war was ended, as an instance of real praying.

"I do not claim that this fact caused the war to end," said Miss Miller, "but nevertheless, the fact stands that the war did end a short time later."

Miss Miller explained the difference of various religions and said that there was a difference between saying a prayer and praying. Miss Miller recommended that every person should have a special place, and a special time for prayer each day.

A Hindu prayer wheel was exhibited by her in the course of her talk. A small handle, looking very much like a six inch piece of broom stick with a long sharp nail protruding from one end, and a small copper can, with Hindu writing and carvings on the outside, compose this peculiar article. The can has a removable top and inside is placed a long, narrow strip of paper on which a prayer has been written by a Hindu priest. The can is fitted on the nail and, hanging from the outside, is a small weight attached to a chain. By a slow motion of the arm the small weight causes the can on top of the stick to rotate. A Hindu will sit by the roadside and whirl this prayer wheel for hours at a time. The longer he whirled the can the holier he becomes, and he doesn't even know what kind of a prayer he is saying, the speaker related.

Miss Miller also exhibited a copy of the Koran. This copy is written on palm leaves with a stylus. It is said to be many thousand years old. The copy was received by Miss Miller from Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Boyles, missionaries at Rangoon, Burma. "The Boyles received the holy article from a Christianized native. A garment worn by a Buddhist priest also was shown by Miss Miller. This garment is of a special color and is worn only by priests. It is seen in a special manner."

Mrs. Edith Wright, Mrs. Harriet Nicholson and Mrs. Wilson S. Taylor talked on the home topic, Slave Life in America. They told how the slaves as a nation had the lowest illiteracy percentage of any country in the world. It was explained that of 25,000 slaves in New York city, not one instance was known where a child had been put to work in a factory. All children had been and were receiving high school educations.

Miss Arletta Christman and Miss Marion Campbell sang "Jesus Calls Us Over the Tumult." The song was illustrated with Zimmerman's picture, "Christ and the Fishermen."

Two girls from Lawrence conservatory entertained with several Slavic songs.

Y.M.C.A. Was Organized In Europe After Big War

"The leaders of Czechoslovakia signed their Declaration of Independence in 1918, upon the same table in Philadelphia which was used in signing the American Declaration of Independence," declared H. B. Durkee, international field representative of the Y. M. C. A., who is visiting Appleton during a leave of absence. He plans to return to his duties in Europe next month.

After signing the armistice which ended the world war, Czechoslovakian leaders in the United States requested and received permission to use the table upon which the great American document was signed in 1776, according to Mr. Durkee. Ardent lovers of liberty, they have a profound admiration for "the great republic of the west" and have based their constitution upon that of the United States.

Four hundred years of German rule is largely responsible for the fact that the western half of Czechoslovakia is 98 per cent illiterate. German overlordship irked the liberty-loving people of what is now the little republic on the eastern border of Germany, but the effect was a wholesome one, Mr. Durkee said. "No state in this country can claim that 98 per cent of its people can read and write. However, the percentage is much lower in the eastern part of Czechoslovakia which borders on the Russian boundary," he added.

Many people do not know that the American Y. M. C. A. served other armies besides the American during the world war, but its workers appeared in most of the allied armies after the United States declared war on the central powers. With the coming of peace the three great empires of continental Europe, Russia, Germany, and Austria, were divided into nine republics and four kingdoms.

Into these new countries the American Y. M. C. A. was called to help organize similar institutions. Fourteen "Imcas"—the initials have no meaning in most foreign languages, but suggested the word "Imca" which was adopted—have been organized in the larger cities of Czechoslovakia. Y. M. C. A. buildings, ranging in cost from $200,000 to $400,000 have been erected in nine centers. Building was stimulated by the general housing laws passed by Czechoslovakia in 1923, which resulted from an adequate housing system in the country. Realizing the need for modern buildings to replace the medieval structures, the government in some cases paid as high as 70 per cent of the cost of new homes.

The largest Y. M. C. A. is located at Prague, the seat of the oldest university in central and eastern Europe, which has been in continual operation since 1318. The university has an enrollment of 20,000 students, while the membership of the Y. M. C. A. is 4,000.

"Twenty-five hundred meals are served daily during the noon hour at our cafeteria in Prague. These meals average a trifle less than 10 cents in cost to the students, and are in every way substantial. Hundreds of students can afford to buy only one meal a day," Mr. Durkee explained.

The Americans introduced baseball, volleyball, basketball and similar sports in Central Europe, and all were taken up with great enthusiasm. Two summer camps for boys between the ages of 12 and 18 have been established, one in Slovakia, and the other in Bohemia. Three sessions of two weeks each enable 900 boys to attend the camps during the summer months, according to Mr. Durkee.

The greatest need of all the new republics in Europe is unity. Mr. Durkee maintains. Cooperation is essential to insure permanence, but the peoples of Europe are still trying to eliminate cleavages resulting from religious and racial differences.

U. S. CANNOT BE ISOLATED

President Coolidge in addressing the Pan-American Red Cross conference made it an occasion to again refer to foreign affairs. He emphasized the fact that the application of scientific discovery to communications, transportation and industry, has "bound the countries of the world together to a degree our forefathers could never have anticipated." This is another way of saying it is possible for the United States to pursue a policy of isolation. The nations of the world are in closer relationship and are engaged in more intimate dealings than were the several states of this country a hundred years ago. No nation of any consequence can today live apart from the other nations. Just as conditions have changed, so must our attitude toward foreign affairs change.

Those who have opposed our membership in the world court have had a narrow, imperfect and prejudiced view of the status of the United States in the family of nations; also, of its professed policies in the past. The president is in a position to look over the heads of politicians and one-track minds and take a broad view of world affairs. The late Mr. Harding went to the White House an avowed isolationist, and speedily became an internationalist to the extent of co-operating with the League of Nations and advocating American adherence to the world court. Mr. Coolidge has had a similar experience.

Regardless of all of the criticisms and abuse that may be offered, the League of Nations and the world court represent an earnest endeavor of the civilized nations of the world to bring about better relationships and to advance the cause of peace. No nation can indefinitely retain the respect and confidence of the world, to say nothing of leadership, which refuses to cooperate in these undertakings. The record of both the League and the world court up to date is one of real achievement. If they did nothing more than bring representatives of the nations together about a conference board to discuss individual and related problems, in an effort to introduce order, stability and friendliness into their relations, it would be ample justification for their existence and support. Mr. Coolidge is doing all in his power to cooperate with the League. Ultimately there is every probability we will join it under reservations.

The attempt to make out the defeat of a few United States senators for renomination as punishment for voting for the world court is an assertion with little to support it. As a matter of fact, the people of this country take small interest in foreign affairs. It would be better for the country if they took more, for if they did and made a serious study of world affairs, they would ere this have brought us into international community gatherings. We have no doubt that American opinion is overwhelmingly in support of the world court. There are some things that are inevitable. One of them is cooperation with the United States of America with Europe for the suppression of war, the advancement of peace and the promotion of human welfare. Some of our near-sighted politicians may delay or obstruct its realization, but they cannot prevent it.

SMALL'S RESPONSIBILITY

Governor Small of Illinois says he accepts full responsibility for the pardon abuses and corruption in that state. The investigation which followed the murder of the deputy warden at the Stateville penitentiary and the escape of a half dozen convicts, has disclosed an astounding condition of affairs. An organized corporation dealing in pardons has been ready to serve any sort of criminal who could raise money or who commanded influence. As a result, hundreds of the worst criminals of Chicago and Illinois have been turned loose on society after serving a short time in prison, where they should have been kept there for life or, better still, executed.

It is hardly possible to conceive of a worse conspiracy against government. If Governor Small wishes to assume the responsibility for this, and of course indirectly he is responsible, he is accepting a great deal. Men in positions of high trust have been impeached for less. Of course, as a matter of fact, Small should have been impeached or repudiated by the people of Illinois long ago. But he is like some other politicians, in that he can bunko the people into believing that black is white and that he is a persecuted champion of human rights. When the people continue to keep in office a man of his type and character, especially after he and his colleagues have been convicted of appropriating to their own use a million dollars of state funds, one wonders what must be the average intelligence of Illinois citizens.

THE POOR FRANC

Mr. John McE. Bowman has been leading a movement to contribute for a fund to help poor bleeding France by getting its franc back on a sound basis. The franc last week dropped below three cents in value, it being possible to buy 34.67 of them for a dollar.

It so happens that Mr. Bowman is a hotel man. While the franc is on a good lively downward movement, Americans travel in France and live high at French hotels; and Mr. Bowman's great caravansaries suffer accordingly. "See America first" takes a drop in the ticker. It is unlikely that Mr. Bowman's movement will succeed in boosting the franc so noticeably and permanently as to swing the traffic back this way, for there is something more fundamentally wrong with France than the lack of a little present cash.

France has funded its American debt. Funding debts has usually been the signal for a boost of credit and trade in favor of the nations which have toed the mark. This has not been the case with France. And neither the revival of the Riff war nor the trouble in Poland. France's vest pocket nation, is primarily responsible. The trouble is that France cannot get a parliament elected which will impose and force the collection of income taxes on the great mass of the French people. Its peasants are tax dodgers from way back—in fact, from the time when their taxes were really something to grieve about, prior to the revolution.

France will continue sick—in terms of governmental credit—so long as this attitude guides voters and elects deputies. Taxes must be collected, and budgets balanced, even if it hurts. Meantime any one who supposes that France is suffering is mistaken. France, in terms of private industry and particularly of agriculture, is prosperous. It is far more so than Great Britain, which does balance its budget and does get all the credit it needs to keep its pound at par in New York.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

Too often we look to the things of tomorrow, and stuff on the things of today. Such foolish neglect often leads us to sorrow and seldom is likely to pay. 'Tis well when a fellow is planning ahead, and evading the lay of the land. But, always, he'll find that it just raises Ned to belittle the tasks right at hand.

Your life is your own and you set your own pace, and the dawn of each day brings new work. Today is begun any race that you run and you never can win if you shirk.

Go on, do your planning o'er things still at bay, but on present-time work be alive. You're sure you can make the full use of today, while tomorrow may never arrive.

Where you start does matter. We had rather be a former poor man than a former rich man.

Finding a horseshoe or being on good terms with the boss are both considered signs of good luck.

Kites are making some people look up for the first time in months.

Consider the busy flea and how he jumps around. And doesn't he go to the dogs?

Nothing is more fattening than a few months in jail.

Opening an umbrella in the house or bumping a traffic cop with your car are signs of bad luck.

CHILDREN VERSUS PARENTS

A freshman in a large university wrote this: "I am 19 years old and up to this time I have conducted myself as I know my parents would wish, but . . . the fact . . . the fellows make a good deal of sport about it and tell me I am going against nature . . . that there must be something the matter with me . . . in short, they call me 'nutty'."

I have enjoyed your stuff in the paper at home and still read it when they send me copies. I don't like to put a question like this to the doctor here . . . yet I would like to know the truth about this. I want to do the right thing, but I don't want to be known as a "sap."

Since when did nature—nature is God—since when did God ordain that man should sink below the level of the beast? The actual weaking, the fellow who isn't man enough to be his own master. He is lower than the beast. It makes him feel miserable when he finds a man who is strong enough to be his own master. He takes a fiendish delight in trying to undermine that man's resolution or break down his homely philosophy or drag him down by fair means or foul to his own rotten level. And so he conceals or retails the most damnable lies, such as that of "going against nature," and he can always find plenty of persons of his own yellow stripe who will aid and abet him in this.

Nobody but a wretched pervert, and a black hearted liar would dare to assert today that sexual immorality is natural or that it is essential for the physical or mental well being of anyone or that it is indispensable or excusable in any community. I have heard tipsy legislators, prosecuting attorneys, parasitic clergymen and accidental health officers uphold the principle of regulated or licensed vice, but of course they were not thinking of their own mothers, sisters, wives or daughters when they betrayed themselves.

No man has any better reason, need or excuse for sexual immorality than his mother, sister, wife or daughter has, and any man imagines he is a better excuse he is indeed a contemptible whelp to advocate or approve of the use of his brother's loved ones for such purpose. How can any man defend sexual immorality without favoring the debauchment of his brother's children? How can any man listen to such an advocate without planting a list in the fellow's face? That is the way a man should resent an insult to his intelligence and his manhood.

The responsibility for the kind of instruction this lad has received at the hands of his "frat" companions rests squarely on the shoulders of the parents of those youths. Apparently they have side stepped the duty of educating the boy—they have sent him away from home unprepared to play the game as they want him to play it. They have left him at the mercy of those very old young snobs who infest some of the social organizations and fraternities of college life.

Parents who want a boy to come home clean ought to send the boy away properly instructed, armed, fortified, yes, and pledged to keep the faith and play the game as his father's business, this, in live. Of course it is his father's business, this, in live. Mother can take care of the girls; father must take care of the boys. That's the best way to handle the matter. If the parents falter, then the next best plan is to have the daughter interview a physician of her own sex, the son a medical man. Or the trained physical director at the Y can give the instruction in the right way.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Spices And Condiments

You said in one article that all spices and vinegar are injurious. Does that mean one shouldn't use them at all? It is hard to find anything to take the place of vinegar in the use of salads and relishes. Are all kinds of vinegar injurious? Are fruits that contain the same kind of acid the body does, injurious? Cinnamon rolls and pumpkin pie do not taste appetizing without the spices. (Mrs. W. L.)

Answer—Your allusion to pumpkin pie makes me nervous. I am thinking what pumpkin pie signified long ago and what a mockery the promise generally proves these degenerate days. Yet, like a dumbbell seeking a good complexion cream or a simple sap investigating the claims of a hair grower, one hears up and orders pumpkin pie again and again. Since Mrs. W. L. said it is injurious, I have become a less ardent vegetarian than I used to be. Vinegar is not utilized by the body, that is, dilute acetic acid (which is mainly what constitutes vinegar) is not oxidized and gives no energy or nourishment to the body, and so it cannot be classified as a food, but rather as a poison. The same thing is true of pepper, spices and flavors generally. But a reasonable amount of vinegar, pepper or spices is all right for use as condiments. Lemon juice (dilute citric acid) is oxidized in the body and may therefore be called a food; oftentimes lemon juice makes a desirable substitute for vinegar. The moderate use of these condiments is unquestionable, even beneficial when they add that zest which the flagging appetite of the convalescent or the invalid needs. Excessive use of the condiments is harmful in many ways. The abuse of mustard and other irritants of that class in the hot dog stands and hash joints where vile food is served, is an instance. The more skillful the cook, the less the demand for condiments to disguise the taste of the food.

Joe said he preferred to drop off airplane wings, etc. to getting married. He claimed it was safer.

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

THE ODYSSEY AS A BOOK FOR BOYS

Recently at a conference of librarians on the general subject of "Books For Boys" a woman whose work as a teacher, a worker with boys and a friend of boys has given her a right to speak with authority began her address with the somewhat startling statement that Homer's Odyssey is an ideal book for boys—or words to that general effect. Startling only because we have been in the habit of associating Homer with hard Greek lessons in college, with rules of Greek grammar, with attempts to translate 20 or 50 or a hundred lines a day without associating them very closely with the 20 or 50 or a hundred lines of the day before and thus losing the thread of the story between times. That kind of thing is probably necessary to learn about the Odyssey, but does the student ever get any fun out of the thing he is translating, aside from purely linguistic fun—does he enjoy it as literature, as a bully story?

It is very doubtful. It is likely that in the minds of most persons who have studied Greek in college books like the Iliad and the Odyssey remain forever associated somewhat unpleasantly with rules of syntax

To turn to them spontaneously as they would to "Robinson Crusoe," for the pure fun of reading them seems almost unnatural. I am not referring to the professor of Greek or to the Greek scholar but to the ordinary type of college graduate who probably makes his living as superintendent of a tannery.

GOOD TRANSLATION

Hence it was somewhat startling to be told that the Odyssey is an ideal book for boys. But anyone who will forget the prodigious size of his college days sufficiently to turn to a good translation of the Odyssey and read it as a story, with no thought in mind of its being a task or something to improve his mind, will perhaps readily agree that the woman who made the statement knew what she was talking about. There is nothing highbrow about the Odysseys. For 500 years ever since the renaissance, high-society professors have tried their level best to make it highbrow by writing a large volume of footnotes for every three lines of text. But if anyone will get an edition in simple prose that is in no way of footnotes he may have the thrill of a great story greatly told by a master story teller whose chief aim was to hold the interest of his audience by such arts of narrative as in possession of Homer was not thinking of footnotes and college professor when he wrote his story. He was thinking of making the eyes of his listeners or readers pop with wonder and excitement. He was a story teller and whatever other aims he may have had in presenting the "ways of God to man," he was first of all a teller of tales.

And that is what makes the Odyssey an ideal book for boys. In the first place, it is great literature, it is great as anything to be found in the whole history of literature, and boys have a right to have the greatest of their reading. They cannot begin to early to get into vital contact with the civilizing and character-building influence of vital myths.

ADVENTURE TYPE

In the second place, the Odyssey is an adventure of the purest type and it is well known that the boy mind naturally takes to adventure. It is a wonder story that must hold the mind of the boy reader if he approaches it as a pure story and not as a task or as a means of learning else and if he reads it in a faithful prose translation that is less concerned with technical questions of philology than with translating the spirit of Homer into English. It is hard to see how any normal boy reading the Odyssey in that spirit and to whom it has not been given as a task can fail to get excited about the wonderful adventures of that hard and brave Greek sailor who min from one adventure into another with breath-taking speed.

And perhaps best of all, the characters in the Odyssey are plausible. They are not merely names on which adventurous incidents are hung as on pegs. They are living men and women. And that is a great asset in boy's reading. It is important in the literature they read shall be genuine and shall have a touch of greatness.

The woman who made the suggestion did a service to boys, and the wise ones will hunt up the Odyssey and will have a good time with it. A microphone has been invented in England which so magnifies the ticking of a watch that it sounds like the explosion of a gasoline engine.

TWO HOMES MADE HAPPY

By Women Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I ever tried," is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of May View, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

of 29 Lane Street, Parkton, N. J. writes: "I can not speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."

These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound. Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. When women are suffering from lack of strength and from weakness, their own life and that of their family is affected. When they feel well and strong and are able to do their household work easily, happy homes are the result.

Only Two Veteran Harness Makers Still In Business

A few more years will see the passing, in Appleton, at least, of the old fashioned harness maker with the old iron horse head on the hitching post in front of his shop and the window full of straps, whips, buckles and ornamental pieces for the proud man with his "carriage and two" in place of this rapidly vanishing business. Many factories throughout the country are turning out harnesses at a much swifter pace than is possible by the old pioneer harness manufacturer, who do all work by hand.

Mr. Yelg, 75 years old, who has been in the business 58 years, and George L. Loose, 62, who has been in the harness business as long as he can remember, are Appleton's only survivors in this occupation for which the "handwriting on the wall" has appeared.

Mr. Yelg started in the harness business in Waterloo, and then practiced his trade in Manchester and Mitchell, Ia. From Iowa Mr. Yelg moved to Marshall, Wis., and finally in 1868 he came to Appleton and started to work here. In 1881 he bought out the man he was working for and has been in business since that time at his present location 417 W. College-ave. Mr. Yelg expects to retire within the next year.

Mr. Loose started in the harness business in his father's shop in Hartford. After working there for about 18 years he went to South Aberdeen, Kan. Finally Mr. Loose and his father opened the harness shop at 127 N. Appleton-st. where he has been located for the past 33 years.

"Pioneer harness makers may die," said Mr. Loose, "but the harness business never will." He claimed that although the automobile had cut into the harness business immensely, it could never fully take its place because farmers would never be able to operate without horses. He claimed that although tractors were meeting with great favor now it was his belief that farmers would eventually turn back to the good old fashioned method.

Mr. Yelg confirmed Mr. Loose's statements.

One reason given for the passing of the harness maker was because there are at present no young men learning the trade. "They wouldn't be willing to work for $30 a year with board and wash," said Mr. Loose, "as I did when I was a young man. We worked from 6:30 in the morning until about 9:30 every night. We worked by candle light with a mirror to reflect the rays so we could see both sides of our work."

Mr. Loose mentioned one harness he had made on which he had worked for a full year. This harness was a fancy driving outfit with about 18 to 20 stitches to an inch. All of the leather was raised and scalloped and designed. Round lines, wound hitch straps, round neck reins and solid silver buckles completed one of the fanciest sets of the day. This harness was displayed at a county fair at West Bend and won first prize. Later it was sold for the handsome sum of $125.

"Farmers today have too much time to spare," said Mr. Yelg. "They have all these new fangled contraptions for doing their work by electricity and they have more time to loaf. In my day it was a rare thing to see a farmer in town during the day, but it is a common sight now."

In the "good old days," according to these pioneer harness makers, a harness would sell for about $30 to $50, with fancy riding sets costing more. Today, with the price of leather doubled, hardware costing from two to four times as much, harnesses sell for from $60 to $100 a set. Many shops have machines for doing a part of the work, but the two local makers still do all their cutting, stitching and oiling by hand.

According to Mr. Loose, farmers used to come to the harness maker in fall and order his harness for the next spring. Today, however, farmers are caught in the great speed rush and they come one day and want their harness the next. A good harness maker can make one complete set per week. Practically all harnesses sold today are work sets. The biggest percentage of business done by the local men is repair work.

Although the automobile has hit the harness business, both Mr. Yelg and Mr. Loose claim that they have done more business since its advent. The reason for this is that so many former harness dealers have left the business and entered new fields.

BUSY PROGRAM BANKERS WALLOP OUTLINED FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Services to Be Held in Cemeteries, in Park and at School

Kaukauna—Plans for an observance of Memorial Day on Monday, May 31 are practically completed. Members of the G. A. R. Women's Reunion, American Legion and the Boy Scouts will meet at the Legion building at 8 o'clock Monday morning where plans will be made for the day. The various organizations will ride to the various cemeteries and places where programs are to be held. The American Legion will furnish a firm squad of eight men, two color bearers, two color guards and an officer in charge.

The procession will leave the Legion building at 8 o'clock sharp and will proceed to the Union cemetery on the south side. After decorating the graves in this cemetery and holding a short service the procession will continue on to the St. Mary cemetery where the same rites will be observed. The cars, then will pass through the south side to Lakeview bridge where they will stop and honor the sailor dead. The next cemetery to be visited is Holy Cross, then Kelo and finally the Lutheran cemetery on Highway 15. From the Lutheran cemetery the procession will go to Memorial park. Here short ceremonies will be given by the G. A. R. and the Women's Reunion corps. The ceremony by the W. R. C. will be given by Mrs. Roy Nelson assisted by Mrs. Josephine Edger, chaplain of the organization. Color bearers for the W. R. C. are Mrs. Percy Chamberlain, Mrs. Clara Mero, Mrs. Alvin Warnke and Mrs. Mary Heinz. The Rev. W. P. Hulon of the Methodist church will deliver a short address in Memorial square. John Brouck will be bugler for the day.

After finishing the ceremony at Memorial park the organizations will go down to the high school where they expect to be by 11 o'clock. The flag pole will then be presented by the class of 1925 and the American Legion will present a flag to the school. Several short talks have been arranged for.

The surviving members of the Paul H. Beaulieu post of the Grand Army of the Republic will accompany the organizations on their rounds of the cemeteries on that day. Only four men remain. Because they are few in number it has become necessary to have the American Legion take a program. The programs now are shorter five charge of the Memorial day program they were in the old days "when the boys in the blue" could get around themselves, according to the living veterans.

The remaining members, the Paul H. Beaulieu of the G. A. R. are: Conny D. Lane, commander; James Conway, James Hamilton and Reuben Whittier.

From the church the people will go to the nearby park in which there is a 100 foot pole and on top of the pole is a large wooden bird. Twenty-five members of the society, all of Dutch descent, will attempt to shoot the bird from the pole. The one who shoots down the last piece of the bird is acclaimed king until the next shoot. All shooting is done in order. Last year St. Nick, the Hollandtown king, shot down the last piece of the bird. The Rev. Van Houtel will preach the sermon. CLERKS IN GAME

Financiers Slide and Slip Around Businessmen to Cop 12-8 Victory

Kaukauna—A red hot game of ball was played in the municipal playgrounds Wednesday evening when the Bankers defeated the North Side Business men 12 to 8 in a Summer Twilight Soft Ball league game. Gordon Mulholland was on the mound for the Bankers and did some real toughing. Olm did the receiving. "Heinie" Minkolege did the strong arm stunt for the clerks and fooled a good many of the opposing team. Nagel caught for the clerks.

Once in a while some strong banker or clerk would feel exceedingly powerful and off the ball would travel for the Fox and once the ball did go "in the creek."

The grounds were wet and once more than one "Eddie Collins" and "Rube Rutch" to fall in attempts to hit or catch the ball. This was only a preliminary game and does not have any effect on the final league standings.

Two more teams have entered the league. They are the Volunteers and the Union Rag crew. A meeting of all the teams is scheduled for 5 o'clock Thursday evening in Mulford's store. At that time a board of control will be appointed and a schedule will be adopted.

STAGE AND
SCREENSYD CHAPLIN AND ELLINGE
OUTDONE BY HIM IN
"MONEY TALKS"

Syd Chaplin and Julian Ellinger are going to have to look to their laurels, for another one of the screen's foremost actors has discarded his apparel for the habiliments of the female sex, impersonating a female physician, "Dr. Murray."

The actor in question is none other than Owen Moore, who turns comedian in "Money Talks," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture playing at the Elite theater today and Friday. Moore has the part of Sam Strling, the moneyless spendthrift whose fast tongue gets him into no end of embarrassing circumstances, including the female impersonation to the delight of the audience.

Claire Windsor is appearing opposite Moore in "Money Talks," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, Katharine Key, Ned Sparks, Phillips Smalley, Dot Farley and George Kuwa. Rupert Hughes wrote the original from which the photoplay was taken by Frederic and Fanny Hatton. Jesse Burns and Bernard Vorhaus did the screen adaptation.

"THE YANKEE SENIOR" COMBINES ROMANCE WITH EXCITING ADVENTURE IN PLEASANT FASHION

The reviewer who wrote this piece about Tom Mix's newest picture, "The Yankee Senior," at the New Bijou today, Friday and Saturday, hit a snag just as he was getting away to what seemed a wonderful start.

"As time goes on," he planned to write, "Tom Mix, the gallant hero of innumerable western thrillers for William Fox, is becoming more and more of an actor and less of a—"

But right there he found himself luck, for it can not truthfully be said that Mix is becoming less of a "stunter" on horseback. Tom does fully as many spine-tickling feats in "The Yankee Senior" as in most of his previous pictures, but, so ingeniously are they fitted into the story, the term "stunt" seems almost uncouth.

Anyhow, Tom Mix makes a highly convincing picture of "The Yankee Senior" which was adapted from "Conquistador," the novel by Katharine Fullerton Gerould. It is the story of an American civil engineer who was determined to build a railroad spur in Mexico in the face of mighty handicaps. Beaten by bandits, labor difficulties, person enemies and even deserted by his American sweetheart, he still hung on doggedly.

Life was anything but attractive until his grandeur, a Spanish don, announced that he would make him heir to his vast estate, after he had proved his worthiness. This, of course, he did, in true Mix style.

PIGS

For thousands of Appleton theatergoers no season of playgoing is complete without the thrills and heart throbs of at least one of John Golden's productions and to these it will be welcome news that "Pigs," the Golden classic, will be presented at the Appleton Theater Wednesday evening, June 9th.

As a title, "Pigs" is as appropriate as was "Lighthouse" or "Three Wise Fools" or "Turn to the Right." It is used in a strictly literal sense because a brook of pink-eared, squealing piglets figure importantly in the plot and there is no reference to the sort of people who are sometimes referred to in everyday parlance as pigs. The plot is novel, clean and absorbing and not since "The First Year" has the stage known a more faithful picture of young love and middle-class family life.

Reference to "The First Year" is pertinent because "Pigs" was staged by Frank Craven with the same deft touches of humor and fine understanding that made Mr. Craven's own starring vehicle a thing of joy and beauty. But there is in "Pigs" an element of youthful infatuation or "puppy love" that was not found in "The First Year" and which is delightfully suggestive of the Booth Tarkington classics, "Seventeen" and "Clarence." In fact, "Pigs," is best described as a romance of seventeen. Its principal characters are a small town boy and girl who are deep in the throes of a love affair and their determination to raise a sum of money necessary to carry out their plans leads to a succession of thrilling situations. Their juvenile plotting leads them into a blackmailing scheme that is more effective than wicked and before the curtain descends upon a happy last act the families of the pair are jolted and jarred to their depths.

Most of the action takes place in a snug cozy "sitting room" that reflects the wholesomeness and comfort of middle-class family life throughout America. The radio is there and so is the shaded reading lamp and other familiar touches. Family bickering that involves a crocheting "grandma," a patient mother and father and a pair of scrappy boys provides much of the fun.

Nevada Westman and Wallace Ford who, thrilled both New York and Chicago with their characterizations of the young plotters, Maude Granger as Grandmother Spencer, May Buckley as a golden-hearted, trusting mother, George Henry Truitt as a suffering but patient father, Philip Barrison as a lazy, whimpering uncle and other well remembered favorites of the original cast will be seen in the roles that they created. Anne Morrison and Patterson McNutt are the authors.

At a meeting of several women of the Parent-Teacher association of Clover Blossom school, District No. 3, Maple Creek, plans were made for serving of dinner at the school picnic to be given at Maple Grove pavilion on Thursday, June 3. The outing, which marks the closing of school for the year is anticipated with a great deal of pleasure by the adults as well as the children of the district and the pavilion with its spacious park is an ideal site for a recreation of this nature.

Mrs. Theodore Ruckdahl has been confined to her bed the past two weeks with a severe case of bronchitis. The Ladies Aid of Grace Lutheran church met at the church parlors Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Fred Mantel was hostess.

About 30 members of the Young Peoples club of Grace church drove out to the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Russ Tuesday evening and pleasantly surprised their daughter, Miss Violet, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. STOP

HAIR

Grow Hair this New Way!

An entirely new method of scalp treatment has been perfected. It is not a tonic. It is totally unlike anything you have seen or heard of before. Its simplicity will delight you. Its results amaze. But one application each week or two is needed for most scalp troubles. It leaves no after-odor—no greasy effect. Everything is just delightful.

Guarantee in Writing
Many extravagant claims have been made before. But not this. This method of scalp treatment is guaranteed in writing. It stops Falling Hair as it by magic Removes dandruff with a treatment or two. Stimulates the hair to thicker heavier growth. And gives it a radiance and lustre that will surprise and delight you.

Symptoms of SEBORRHEA
Itching Scalp
Brittle Hair
Dandruff
Oily Hair
Dry Scalp
These common and seemingly harmless ailments are sure signs of approaching trouble. This new method corrects them scientifically.

Seborrhea Cause of Troubles
Well may you wonder at such a broad guarantee. But this treatment is not a mere tonic. We have studied hair troubles scientifically and discovered some amazing facts. We found that the hair bulbs seldom die from natural causes. They don't come out with the hair. But frequently they become weakened. Then hair troubles commence. Seborrhea is most often the cause. Infection sets in. The hair now becomes dull, lifeless and starts falling excessively.

Buy A Poppy And Wear It Saturday, Legion Pleads

"Buy one, and wear one" is the slogan of the committee composed of members of the Once Johnston post of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary which is in charge of Poppy Day, Saturday, May 29, Harvey Priebe, vice commander of the post says.

When buying a poppy, don't forget you are not only giving aid to men still in the hospital suffering from the effects of the late war, but to their families.

Officers of the post call attention to the history of the selection of the Poppy as the memorial flower of the American Legion. How the poppy, which will be held here Saturday came into its present place of prominence as described by local legionnaires, follows:

"The idea of wearing a poppy in memory of all who died in the service of their country in the World War was a gift to the American Legion by one who was first to wear it in America—Miss Mollie Michael of Georgia and the seed of this idea on fertile soil of sentiment in the hearts of Legionnaires is spring forth as the national memorial flower of the organization. The history of the adoption by the American Legion is interesting.

"It was on the morning of November 6, 1918, while serving on the staff of the Y. M. C. A. Overseas headquarters at Hamilton Hall New York, a soldier placed in the hands of Miss Michael a copy of the Ladies Home Journal with the poem 'In Flanders Field,' illustrated in it. This poem was written by Lieutenant Colonel John McRae, of the Canadian contingent. The inspiration for Colonel McRae's poem as set forth by him was as follows:

"On Flanders front in the early spring of 1915 when the war had settled down to trench fighting, two of the most noticeable features of the field were first the luxuriant growth of red poppies appearing among the graves of the fallen soldiers, and second that only one species of bird remained in the field during the fighting—the lark—that as soon as the cannonading ceased, would rise at once in the air singing.

"Colonel McRae wrote: 'In Flanders field the poppies grow Among the crosses row on row. That mark our place and in the sky. The larks still heavily singing, fly Scarce heard amid the din below. We are the dead; that day ago We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow Loved and were loved, and now we lie In Flanders fields.

"Take up our quarrel with the foe! To you from falling hands we throw The torch, be yours to hold it high! If ye break faith with us who die We shall not sleep though poppies grow In Flanders Field."

Colonel McRae died of pneumonia near the battle line in the Fourteenth General hospital, France, on Jan. 28, 1918.

"Alone in her office Miss Michael read and reread John McRae's beautiful verse which immortalized the poppy. She caught the message and as she had dedicated herself to service for her country the night war was declared she made a second dedication to keep her faith and wear a poppy of Flanders field as a sign of remembrance.

"She wrote this dedication in verse: Oh! You who sleep in Flanders Field—Sleep sweet—to rise anew! We caught the torch you threw And holding high, we keep the faith With all who died:

"We cherish, too the poppy red That grows in fields where valor led: It seems to signal to the sky: That blood of heroes never dies, But lends a lustre to the red Of the flower that blooms above the dead In Flanders fields.

"And now the torch and poppy red We wear in honor for our dead. Fear not that ye have died for naught: We're learned the lesson that ye taught.

"As she was writing the last line a committee of the 25th Y. M. C. A. conference which was meeting there brought her a check in appreciation of her efforts to make an attractive hostess house at their headquarters. She had furnished flowers from her own purse before this time.

"How strange," she said, and I shall buy red poppies, bright red

INVITE FIND DU LAC K. P. LODGE TO MEET

Reuben Heiss, Theodore Brunk, George H. Schmidt, and Judge Fred V. Heinemann went to Fond du Lac Tuesday evening to invite the Knights of Pythias lodge of that city to attend the Dekey ceremony which is to be held here June 3.

Flanders' Field poppies to wear—do you know why?

"She showed the men the poem, and her answer and they were so much impressed they asked to be allowed to present the idea to the conference. The conference was also impressed and that day Miss Michael brought poppies and after the adjournment the men came down stairs and asked for poppies to wear—the first scene in America of wearing the poppy for all who died.

"Later the poppy was adopted by the American Legion as the national memorial flower of that organization."

CHIEF APPROVES TRAFFIC RULES

Ten Safety Commandments Are Followed to Good Advantage by Cities

With the constant danger of traffic accidents to both motorists and pedestrians in mind, George T. Prim, chief of police, has given his approval to the following ten "safety commandments" which are being used to good advantage in other Wisconsin cities.

A careful observance of the safety rules, Chief Prim believes, will do much to lessen the number of traffic accidents. The first five commandments apply to motorists, while the last five are intended for pedestrians. They follow:

FOR MOTORISTS' USE
1—Study traffic rules. Obey them: ignorance is no excuse. They are written for you and may be obtained at the police station.

2—Accidents always are "unexpected." Therefore, drive carefully at all times, using chains in slippery weather.

3—Give the pedestrian a chance. Even if he is careless, you will regret any injury he may suffer. Most auto accidents occur when driving fast.

4—Look out for the children. Though playing on the sidewalk, they may suddenly run into the street. Many are injured yearly by this means.

5—Keep your brakes in order. Your life and the lives of many others depend upon your ability to stop instantly. You can't do it with neglected brakes.

FOR PEDESTRIANS' GUIDANCE

6—Always look both ways when crossing streets. The sidewalk is safe, but death lurks in the roadway.

7—Never cross streets at other than regular crossings. This reckless practice of "jay walking" causes one-half of the street accidents.

8—Don't cross the streets directly behind a street car. There may be another automobile or streetcar coming

OFFERS LOTS FOR GARDEN PURPOSES

If there are any Appleton people who have a desire to "get back to the land," and raise their own vegetables and other garden truck this summer, but are unable to do so because of inadequate space on their property, they should be quick to take advantage of a recent offer of a Lawrence college professor, who will give the use of two city lots he owns for garden purposes this summer. The lots are located on W. Seymour-st., one block west of St. Elizabeth hospital and are of regulation size.

from the opposite direction that you cannot see.

9—Before stepping from the curb, see that vehicular traffic is at a standstill. "Threading traffic" is inviting death or injury.

10—Avoid cutting diagonally from corner to corner at intersections. Two lines of traffic to watch doubles your chance of injury.

The owner of these lots will be out of town all summer and rather than see the property lie idle is willing to donate the use of it free for productive purposes. The lots were used for gardening purposes last summer and a fine crop was produced on them. Anyone interested in working the property this summer may call the Post-Crescent office. It will be a case of first come, first served.

GOODYEAR MEANS GOOD WEAR

"The overcoat is in there just the same!"

by
G. J. SCHWAB
Manager

THEY used to tell a story about a new salesman turning in his first expense account. One of the items set down was an overcoat, at $40.

"Here!" cried the sales manager, "this won't do. We're not buying overcoats for salesmen. Take this statement back and make it out right."

Presently the salesman returned with the revised statement. His chief glanced at it. "Fine! That's the stuff," he said.

"It is, eh?" replied the other, with evident satisfaction. "Well, the overcoat is in there just the same!"

If you had been in the tire business as long as we have, you would realize that in some ways a tire dealer's list prices and a liberal expense account are much alike. Both can be padded as much as necessary. So all this talk about "discounts" and "long trades" doesn't mean a thing.

A different selling policy

We could hand you that come-hither stuff, too, if we liked. All we'd have to do would be to stock a long-profit line of tires and play the old army game.

You know how it's done. Simply push up the retail prices to suit the occasion and then "discount" and "long trade" you to your heart's content.

Sure — We'll Trade!

We'll take your old tires in trade on new Goodyears, yes. But two things we won't do. We won't allow you more than they're worth, and then try to make it up by jumping the retail price on the new ones. No, if we trade you'll get just what you're entitled to for the old tires. In turn you'll be charged just what everyone else is for the new ones. That seems fair. How about it?

But we operate on a different policy. We've had the idea for a long time that the majority of sensible people would like to buy tires as they buy anything else—on a legitimate, aboveboard basis.

We think they prefer to purchase nationally known tires of established quality, at fair and frank prices, from a concern that has some standing in the community.

A popular policy, too

May be we're wrong. But our sales records say different. We figure we're the oldest tire dealers in the Fox River Valley and our business has increased every single year since we started.

Right now we have by far the biggest stock of tires in Appleton. Goodyear Tires, too—so superior in quality that more people ride on them than on any other kind.

If you're tired of being kidded about low-cost mileage, and really want to get it, let us fix you up now with a set of new Goodyears.

Quality considered, they're the lowest-cost equipment you can buy, and you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that no one gets a better tire or better price than you do.

As for all that "special deal" and "discount" and "long trade" line of taffy, don't be stampeded.

You know — "the overcoat is in there just the same!"

SCHNEIDER GETS O. K. OF LABOR

Trades Council Indorses
Congressman for Reelection

Appleton Trades and Labor council unanimously indorses Representative George J. Schneider as candidate for renomination from the Ninth congressional district at a regular meeting at trades and labor hall Wednesday night. Representative Schneider's announcement of his candidacy for renomination was read to the council.

A communication from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, urging support of the Workers Education bureau, also was read. The communication stressed the fact that the American Federation of Labor has indorsed only one agency in the field of workers' education—The Workers Education Bureau of America—and warned against supporting any other so-called labor educational agencies or publications unless they have been investigated by the American Federation of Labor.

Another communication from the Union Label Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, urging appointment of a committee to arrange for meetings during the period from Aug. 29 to Sept. 11, to conduct a campaign in the interest of the Union Label, Shop Card and Working Button, was read. This period has been designated by the federation of labor the past three years as a time for carrying on such work. The committee will be appointed shortly.

Final examinations at Appleton high school were started Thursday morning and will be continued for three days. There will be three examination periods Thursday and Friday and one Tuesday, June 1. The examinations average two hours in length.

Trout Hit Flies Best When Skeeters Are Active

BY B. A. CLAPLIN
From information gathered relative to the trout streams as far north as Lake Superior we can now state that conditions are perhaps as near ideal as they will be at any time during the ensuing season. While the water in some places is just a trifle higher than normal, that is a condition which is rather in favor of the fisherman than otherwise.

The trout are taking flies now which means that the time of certain live insects is at hand. It also means that, if the fisherman is wise, he will take along a generous supply of fly dope, for the mosquitoes are veritable tigers during the month of June. Usually, after the middle of July, they are not so plentiful. Then, however, with a respite from their annoyance, comes the "No-see-ums" and minute black flies. Anyone who has an acquaintance with the two latter pests, and most fishermen have, especially if they have ever pitched camp near some old logging site, will bear me out when I say that I had rather put up with the annoyance of mosquitoes at their worst than with them. However, it is consoling to know that when the "bugs" bite so also do the fish.

The brushier the stream fished the more plentiful will these pests be. And they are particularly annoying just before a rain storm when the atmosphere is humid and sultry. It is preferable to fish the larger streams, and from the middle, when possible, for almost invariably, there will be found a current of air moving downstream over the water, and this has a tendency to keep the mosquitoes and small flies confined to the brush along the banks. I have, after years of experimenting, finally found what I consider the most effective of all the so-called "dopes" and will be glad to pass along the prescription gratis to any fisherman desiring it.

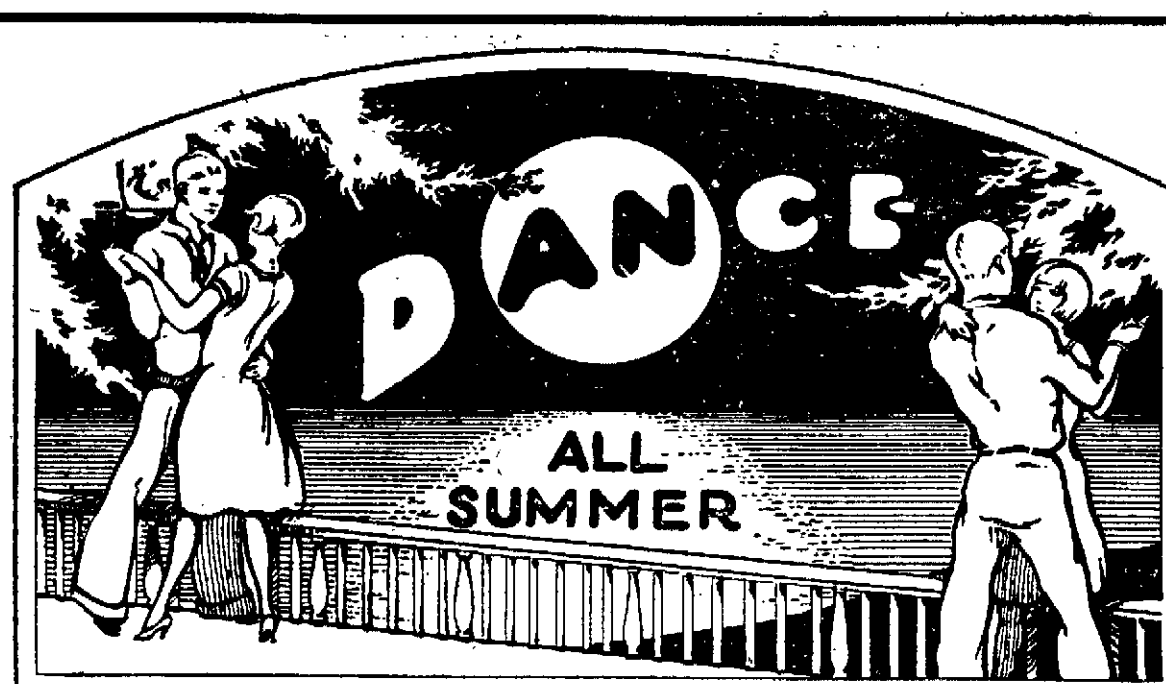

Not all localities afford both stream and lake fishing. A trip to Breed, on highway 32, however, will bring you in close proximity to the famous Oconto river and also to Anderson lake. Most all fishermen are acquainted with the big rainbows which can be taken from the Oconto river, but not all know that Anderson lake intimately. This lake is three miles from Breed and some idea of its importance may be had when I state, that not long ago, a

L. Hugo Keller, past state commander of the American Legion will open the program presented by Appleton organizations for veterans at the Soldiers Home at Waupaca Sunday, with a 15-minute address, according to Edward F. Snappy Music

Orchestra known throughout the Fox River Valley for their peppy music and enjoyable dance numbers have been selected to play for the several dances throughout the coming summer.

Good Floor

The pavilion at Eweco Park has one of the best dance floors in the state. In addition, improvements have been made within the past year that have increased the dancing space about one-third. This assures enough room for pleasant dancing.

Congenial Crowds

It is really lots of fun to dance at Eweco Park because everyone comes to have a pleasant time, and consequently the group at every dance is what people call "a good crowd" meaning that the bunch is congenial, respectable, and worth associating with.

Ideally Located

Picture a covered but open pavilion on the bank of a quiet, moonlit lake. A gentle, cooling breeze blows through the whispering oaks which are all about. The music stops. You stroll out under the shadowy trees to the lake edge and gaze at the ribbon of moonlight, ever-changing as the tiny ripples jag its edges and lap against the shore. Perhaps you won't care to dance the next dance and you sit there on the bank—in the moonlight—listening to the music as it seems to float over the water.

This is Eweco Park. Don't you wish you could start this minute to enjoy the pleasant times it promises you?

COUNCIL DEFERS VOTE ON MOTION TO UPHOLD VETO

Mayor Says City Can't Afford to Embark on Paving Program This Year

Menasha—Mayor N. G. Remmel's veto of Second-st. pavement from Appleton-st. to Konemac-st. was discussed at a special meeting of the common council Wednesday evening after which Alderman Gus Fahrner, chairman of the street committee, moved it be sustained. Due to the absence of Alderman Baldwin who introduced the resolution the vote was postponed until the monthly meeting Tuesday evening, June 4.

The mayor in a brief talk gave as his principal reason for vetoing the pavement lack of funds to carry on the work. He called attention to the amount of money in the street fund and said very little would be left after sewer payments had been made. He said he was as much in favor of permanent improvements as anyone in the council and suggested that the pavement be laid over until next season when it is planned to connect up all the pavements in that part of the city.

Several aldermen joined in the discussion and emphasized the fact that they could not see how the work could be done this year if the city following an economic program. The mayor called attention to new sidewalks that had been ordered at the last council meeting, which had to be paid for.

In order to carry out the plan of the park and recreation commission relative to a new bathroom and the dredging of a lagoon opposite the city park to be used for bathing purposes, the aldermen decided to borrow $2,500 in addition to the amount the commission has on hand, $2,500.

A petition for the closing of Milwaukee-st. north of the railroad tracks was granted. It was decided to secure permission from the United States government to carry out the contemplated work at the city park. Joint ownership in 17 poles was granted to the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power company for a consideration of $127.64.

Contracts were placed for supplies for the municipals and light plant. Provision was made for either repairing the city motorcycle or replacing it with a new one. The aldermen held a meeting at the conclusion of the council meeting to determine how many would attend the Memorial day exercises. Benches were ordered placed at the foot of Nicolet boulevard.

Menasha—Henry J. Lens post of the American legion has practically completed its organization for the annual poppy sale Saturday. Local legion members will be assisted in the work by the auxiliary ladies who will sell the poppies on the streets.

All of the poppies to be sold have been made by disabled veterans and their needy families in legion hospitals or other supervised headquarters. The poppy makers are given financial remuneration for their labor and for many of the disabled veterans that wage is their sole income and makes them self-supporting.

Is cake baking really difficult?

"Not when you have the right stove," say six famous cooks.

There is no reason why cake-making should be less successful than any other cooking operation—when the cook can depend upon her stove.

THAT is the statement of six famous cooks who have just completed a practical cooking test of the Perfection Stove. All six agreed in praising the Perfection highly for its baking ability, as well as for its general performance.

"Speaking of cakes, half the making is in the baking," said Miss Rosa Michaelis, New Orleans, domestic science specialist.

Delicate Angel Food

"An even temperature must be maintained while an angel food and other cakes are baking," added Miss Margaret A. Hall, nutrition expert of the Battle Creek College of Home Economics. "When I baked cakes in the Perfection oven I used a standard, portable oven thermometer as a check. The flame did not creep or crawl. You can depend on the Perfection flame to remain as you set it."

"My orange cakes and devil's foods were delicious," commented Mrs. Kate B. Vaughn, Los Angeles, household economics director. "The air circulation in the Perfection oven seems perfect. All excess moisture was carried away."

"It's the 'live heat' of the Perfection Oven which brings such good results," said Mrs. Rorer, famous Philadelphia cook.

"The Perfection oven is so roomy that there is room for several cakes at a time," said Mrs. Belle DeGraf, San Francisco. "And, through the glass door of the oven you can see just how they are baking. No need to open the door and lose any heat."

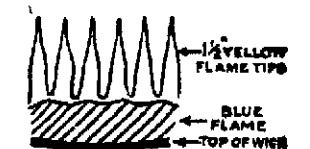

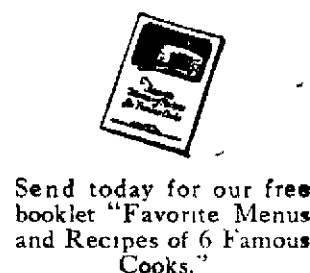

Miss Lucy G. Allen, of the Boston School of Cookery, commented on the visible oil supply. "You can see," she remarked, "whether you have enough for your cooking. If not, it's easy to refill the Perfection reservoir without soiling your hands."

High Praise

These are just a few of Perfection's good baking points which the six expert cooks praised highly. You will find many others when you bake on a Perfection. It's the stove which proves cake-baking is not difficult.

"This is the flame for pre-heating the oven," says Mrs. Rorer. "It has yellow tips, 1 1/2 inches high above the blue flame."

"You can see when the glass reservoir tank needs refilling, and refill it without getting a drop of oil on your fingers," says Miss Allen.

3.14 Per Cent of Cattle in County Reacted to Test, Report Shows

Final figures on the tuberculin area test in Outagamie-co were given out Wednesday by Dr. E. H. Borman, veterinarian in charge of the work. A total of 3,655 herds containing 64,598 head of cattle were examined for traces of tuberculosis.

Of this number 2,028 reactors were found in 953 herds. Grade reactors outnumbered purebreds by more than three to one, 1,726 being found against 302 purebred cattle. The herds in which infected cattle were found contained 29,661 head.

Ratio of reactors to the total number of cattle tested is 3.14 per cent. This percentage is fairly low, considering the large number of cattle in Outagamie-co, especially when compared with some of the southern counties, according to Dr. Borman.

The surprising feature of the county area test was the high percentage of herds in which infection was found. Reactors were discovered in 26 per cent of the total number of herds tested, Dr. Borman pointed out.

A retest of infected herds will be made in about six months to determine whether the disease has been caught by any cattle which failed to react to the area test.

CHILD WELFARE CAR TO STOP AT ONEIDA

Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, expects to take several children to Oneida June 16 and 17 for examination by doctors in charge of the Child Welfare car which goes from one county of the state to another as a free traveling clinic representing the Wisconsin State board of health. Oneida is the only place in Outagamie-co where the car will stop on its present tour. The truck is making a 12 day tour in Brown-co, stopping for a day or two at towns and villages in all sections of the county so that all the rural population may have access to the service.

The welfare car visits each county in the state on the average of once every five years. Three years ago the car made a tour of towns and villages of Outagamie-co.

Religious School Common Ground To Learn Bible

A common ground upon which the children of various denominations can meet in learning the Bible and religious history has been found in Appleton where for five years nine churches have cooperated in religious day schools.

Initiated as the result of the belief that the short time spent on the Sabbath permitted only a "smattering" of knowledge to be inculcated in the young, the school has grown steadily, according to Dr. J. R. Denyes, the director, until today it is an established part of the educational system in Appleton.

"The school has amply demonstrated to school authorities here, the value of an hour or two of religious instruction each week for the children of the elementary grades," said Dr. Denyes, who in addition to being the director of the school, is professor of religion and missions of Lawrence college.

The school is part of the Appleton plan of religious education. The plan provides for the religious day school, church vacation Bible schools and church community training school. The training is for the instruction of adult leaders in church and Sunday school work.

When the school was established the enrollment was around the 100 mark but according to the last annual report it had 230 pupils last year.

Schools were established at two buildings with a view to their proximity to the public schools. Children were voluntarily enrolled for attendance during public school hours two days a week for one hour sessions. Baptists, Congregationalists, Episcopalians, Methodists, Presbyterians, Evangelical church and the Salvation Army cooperated and are back of the school today.

The late Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence college, F. J. Harwood, present moderator of the Congregational church, Judson G. Rosebush, and Earl E. Emme, present superintendent of religious education for the Methodist Board of Education led the movement for establishment of the school. Mr. Emme was the first director of the school.

The four district school boards of the city granted the petition to dismiss children of the fifth and sixth grades two afternoons each week for religious instruction.

Proponents contended education of junior citizens was not complete without the fundamentals of religion that public schools could not give courses in religion because of "the separation of church and state" and that therefore these courses should be given by a separate agency.

Teachers were elected from the various denominations represented in the churches sponsoring the religious day school movement. Academic requirements for teaching in the new school were set at as least two years of college training or its equivalent. Personality, Christian experiences, knowledge of Christian truth, sympathetic love of youth, and trained technique, also, were considered. From five to seven courses were offered during the first year.

When the public schools opened in the fall of 1924 the principals of each furnished Dr. Denyes with a list of all fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils who would be eligible to attend the school of religion. A campaign for students was conducted. The result was an enrollment of 230 boys and girls, an increase of 38 per cent over the previous year.

"The support received from the public schools has been cordial and helpful," said Dr. Denyes. "In return, the religious school has, at the close of each days classes, mailed to the principals of each school a list of all pupils late or absent. Twice a year a report card is sent to the parents of every child.

"As the management of the school has become more efficient from year to year the per capita expense of educating the youngsters has greatly decreased.

"It is this year's remarkable advance over last exemplified both by the large gain in students enrolled and in giving better instruction at a lower cost per capita than ever before, which makes one realize that the Appleton week day school of religious education has proved to be an unqualified success in the community, that it has come to stay and that it is now accepted as a matter of course in hundreds of homes, much the same as the public schools.

IRVING ZUELKE

A New Pipe Organ Record

20000—Always Dinah Jesse Crawford

Price 75c
Recent song successes transferred to the pipe organ and played by a famous explorer of the popular heart. "Always" already is known to the public in half a dozen forms—in dance records, songs and otherwise; here it is with all the color the "lion of instruments" can supply it. Cool, fluffy pipe-combinations contrast with penetrating sub-acute reeds. The "classical" and the well used and the tremulant are freely used "Dinah" with its intriguing half-intoxicating rhythm, is in sharp contrast to the chance of key-boards, or "organs" is noticeable with the first refrain, the melody filling out like the sails of an invisible boat before winds of harmony. Added contrast is given by a soft high pipe, then new combinations are added one by one. The artist keeps everything in the popular vein, without striving for calico or freak effects.

McTangle

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LITTLE MARQUESE, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER.

Yes, here I am at last, dear little Marquise.

I am home again, and oh, how good it seems! This place that was my father's and mother's and is now mine! This place where my girlhood was spent seems at last just full of happiness for me!

When I arrived early this morning Thomas was at the station to meet me. His rugged Scotch face was covered with a smile which seldom one sees upon it.

"Mr. Prescott, let me tell you, Mum, that he had intended to drive down for you himself, but he slipped on the hall floor last night and broke the skin which had already formed over the burn on his leg and the doctor said he must not attempt to drive a car today. Indeed, he made him go back to bed."

"Oh, I hope it's nothing serious," I said to our old chauffeur in alarm.

"Oh, no, Mrs. Prescott. It is not at all serious, but the doctor wants the new skin to be thoroughly healed before he uses his leg in any way, and as Mr. Prescott is so determined to go to the plant where they take that moving picture, I think his physician was glad of an excuse to keep him in the house today."

"And how are the children, Thomas?" I asked, as we made our way through the station, where my eyes were surprised by a gorgeous new roadster—something I had intended to buy for myself for a long while.

"Oh, how wonderful!" I exclaimed. "Yes," said Thomas. "Mr. Prescott said I was to present it to you with his love, and talking about the children, Master John said to me yesterday that probably after you came home you would want him to learn chauffering for with this new car, he knew you would ride with greater safety if he was at the wheel."

I looked up in surprise. Thomas was not wont to joke, but it did not seem possible that little Jack could have said just what he was telling me.

"I'm sure you're trying to make a joke! That sounds awfully grown up, Thomas."

"No, Mrs. Prescott, Master John really said all of it. Your oldest son, Mum, surely thinks you could not get along without him. Sometimes I think he is almost grown up already."

"What did you say to him, Thomas?"

"I asked him if he thought it would be fair to take my job away from me. That seemed to be a new idea. His five-year-old brain had not before realized that I needed a job."

"And then?" I asked.

Adventures Of The Twins

The Lumpy Dog and The Three-Tailed Cat

The next place that the Twins went to look for the poor Whiffet's lost shadow, was the house of the Sour-Old-Woman-Who-Lived-Under-the-Waterfall.

She was braiding her cat's three tails when they arrived, and she couldn't let them go, but as soon as she had tied a nice green bow on the end, she turned around and said sourly, "Now what is it?"

"It's my shadow," said the Whiffet timidly. "I lost it going over the stile. Did it come here?"

"I'll ask my lumpy dog," said the Sour Old Woman, not quite so sourly. "Here Lumpy! Come here! Did you see a Whiffet shadow come this way?"

"I won't answer until I get two sausages and a pickled pig's foot," said Lumpy.

"You'll have to go to the butcher's," said the Sour Old Woman to the visitors, a little more sweetly

HELPFUL HINTS FOR GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO.

JIM BARNES—MIDIRON
If you will watch most any number of good golfers, you will observe that when they lash out for extra distance they are more likely to be off the line to the left. This is because in trying to put extra force into the blow, the right hand, which delivers the bulk of the punch, assumes proportionately too much command of the stroke.
The secret of getting distance lies in proper timing of the stroke; that is, to have the club-head traveling at its highest speed just as it comes into the ball.
Possibly you may find a good tip in what is frequently referred to as hitting through the ball, by which is meant an attempt to attain a minimum speed with the club-head at a spot an inch or two in front of where the ball lies.
I believe the player who tries to hit the ball very hard as a rule instinctively slackens off a little too soon; by that I mean the player who is conscious of a hitting attempt rather than a swing.
So it might help you to try to give the club-head its maximum speed at a point just beyond where the ball lies.

APPLETON WOMEN TAKE PRIZES IN BIG MAPLE MEET

Members of Orange Squeeze, Jolly Five Teams Count in National Tournament

Appleton women bowlers cut into the prize money for $61.57 at the 1926 National Women's Bowling Tournament which was held in Milwaukee this year, records of the meet received here Wednesday show. With the meet being held in the Cream City many local women took advantage of the chance at national prizes for the first time. A total of 274 teams entered the meet, 165 of which were from Wisconsin. The farthest team came from Jersey City, New Jersey.

One Appleton team, the Koester Orange Squeeze crew, shot into the money when it finished 26th for a prize of $30 or $6 apiece. The place is an enviable mark when it is taken into consideration that 274 of the best ladies teams in the country competed. Members of the team are E. Dunn, M. Tornow, G. Koerner, T. Wenzlaff and S. Roubelush.

In the doubles four members of the Orange Squeeze crew and two members of the Jolly Five team of the Tuttle Press Co. "coached in." A Goldbeck and L. Austin of the Jolly Five led the local pinsters with 76th place and a prize of $11. E. Dunn and M. Tornow slid into 124th place and captured $5 and G. Koerner and T. Wenzlaff took 138th place and $4.87.

In the singles two members of the Orange Squeeze team counted, G. Tornow smacking the maple for 111th place and $6 and M. Tornow winning 146th place $5.

BLUE, KRAL HEAD BAY FIGHT CARD

Winners of Two Former Green Bay Fistic Affairs Meet in Main Bout on June 3

Green Bay—Determined to give the fight fans of Green Bay a card that will satisfy the most rabid ring follower, promoters of the Brown County Boxing club have lined up a show card for the June 3 fight at the Casino club which should guarantee satisfaction all the way through.

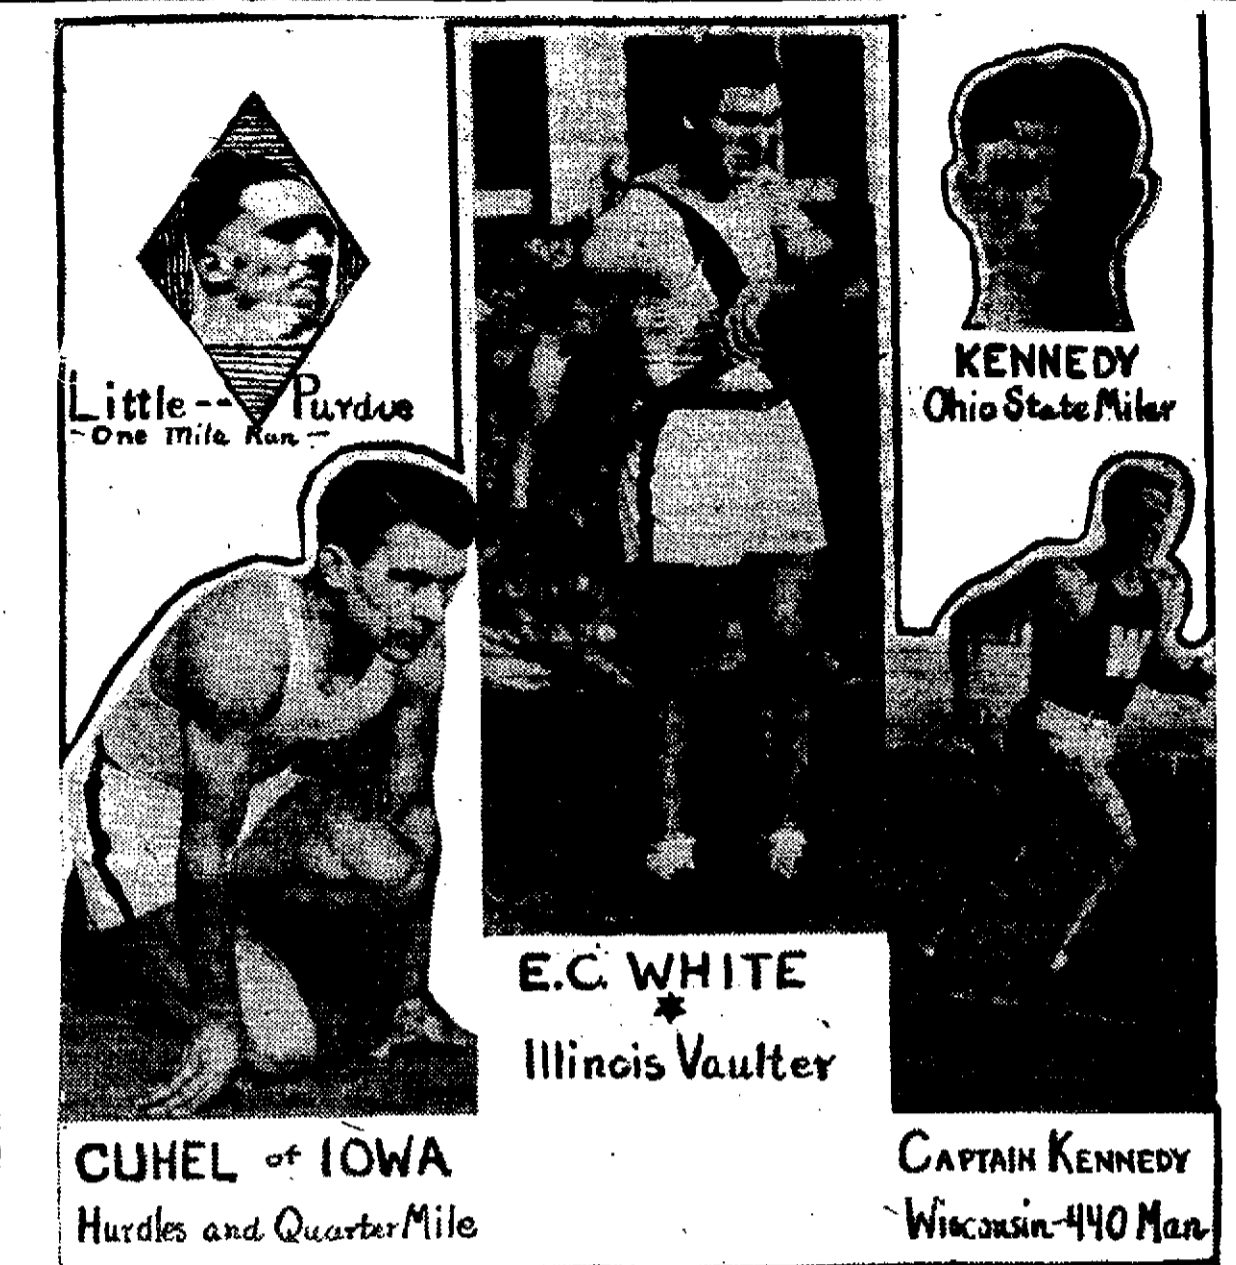

In the main bout, two fighters who have scored victories in the squared arena here will exchange punches. Earl Blue and Frank Kral have agreed to terms. It was Blue who put the skids under Glickner of Racine here in a hurry on the March card. Frank Kral won from Dago Joe Gane at the April show. Kral got the decision on a foul but at the time of the low blow, he was miles ahead of the Italian from the Twin Cities. Fight fans here have seen both of these boys go and there is no chance of a false alarm on either side of the fence.

The semi-windup will see Jack Lawrence of Oshkosh in action again. The Sawdust city battler has appeared here three times and showed a real fight at each start. He knocked out Young Church and got decisions over Freddy Rutney of Chicago. Frankie Dory of Marinette has been selected as Lawrence's opponent. Frankie comes from that famous family of fighters in the Northern city and he is a chip off the old block. Dory has won his last three starts scoring wins in Wausau, Rhineland and Escanaba.

The second bout of the evening will bring together Billy Besh and Zie Zwiek. Besh knocked Fritz Gelmier for a goal last Friday night while Zwiek, on the April card, lost to Gelmier on a foul when he tapped the Two Rivers husky while he was down. Zwiek had it all over Gelmier and looked as if it would be only a question of minutes before a K. O. would have been hung up to the credit of the Milwaukee boy. Both Besh and Zwiek are rugged boys in the ring and it should be a whale of a scrap.

BADGER LEADER FAVORITE AT BIG TEN MEET

The five men portrayed above are very likely to find themselves famous after the last event of the Western Conference track and field championships. They will compete at Iowa City, Friday and Saturday.

The Wisconsin favorite, Captain Kenneth Kennedy is the possessor of the indoor Big Ten 440-yard championship and with his strong stride is a hard man to head. He was runner-up outdoors last year. His best time beats 49 seconds.

Frank Cuhel of Iowa astounded the track sharps who had predicted that Brookings' low hurdle record was beyond approach when he raced 232-10 the same time as the Big Ten mark. Although aided by a wind, he nevertheless turned in a convincing performance. He will run the high and low hurdles and may anchor on the Iowa one mile relay team.

Able to run 880-yards in 1:58 and a mile in 4:26, James Little of Purdue is a prospect for points in either race. He was third in the mile last year.

E. C. White is one of the two Illinois men who tied for first in the pole vault at the indoor Big Ten affair. His best mark, which he makes with regularity is twelve-six feet.

A notable from Ohio State is Kennedy, the indoor mile champion and record holder. He has run the distance under 4:24 and can pace through two miles in about 9:40.

38 Badger Track Stars In Big Ten Title Meet

GRANGE WILL PILOT ICE WAGON AGAIN

Wheaton, Ill.—(AP)—The Wheaton ice man, so far as the world at large knows, the only one the town ever had, will be back on the job this summer.

Red Grange, who stepped from the tail-gate of a Wheaton ice wagon into the spotlight of the athletic world and thence beneath Hollywood's Kleig lights is coming home to peddle ice for six weeks as training for the professional football season.

The famous halfback will leave the movie lots in July to resume the work that kept him in condition while he became the outstanding college football player of the country at the University of Illinois from where he last fall went into a profitable career as a pro player. He is at present engaged in filming a play at Los Angeles.

MANY STAR SPRINTERS IN BIG TEN CONTESTS

Iowa City, Ia.—(AP)—Nearly every Big Ten team is bringing an expert sprinter for the Western Conference track and field meet to be held here Friday and Saturday. The delegation that will show flying heels in the century dash is headed by Hester of Michigan, Olympic man from Canada, and winner of hundred at the Penn Relays earlier this season.

So far the Wolverine has not been defeated in conference competition. Lechinsky's team mate, has been up in front in all the 220-yard races this year and is expected to give the others a lot of running Saturday.

The other premier dash artists billed for the conference meet are Gruen-hagen, Minnesota; Roberts, Iowa; Kennedy, Wisconsin and Kelley, Michigan.

SPORT BODY AGAINST COMPETITION BY HOFF

Boston, Mass.—(AP)—The committee on foreign relations of the A. A. U. has voted not to approve further competition by Charles Hoff, Norwegian pole vaulter in this country. The decision was made public Thursday by William C. Prout, committee chairman.

HOLD OPENING GOLF TOURNEY SATURDAY

The official opening of Butte des Morris Country club for the 1926 season, postponed last Saturday because of "wet grounds" will be held this Saturday unless old June flyover again floods over and interferes with the event. The feature of the opening day program will be a heat-ball foursome, club officials said.

Each quartet will play the course and then turn in its four cards. The cards will be compared and the lowest score made by any member of the quartet will be the score for that hole. The foursome team making the lowest score among its members will be the winner.

CARDS GAIN 1ST SECTION BY WIN OVER CINCY REDS

Rejuvenated Hornsby Crew Whips Loop Leaders Third Straight; Yanks Win Again

Chicago — (AP) — In the National league race, western teams are setting the pace. The American circuit is the reverse. The St. Louis Cardinals, which started poorly, made the first division of the National all-western Wednesday by defeating the league leading Cincinnati Reds for the third straight time. The victory pushed the Brooklyn, which lost to the New York Giants, into fifth place. Chicago remains at the top with Cincinnati second and world champion Pittsburgh third.

Seven run in the eighth inning gave the Cardinals their 5 to 3 margin over the Reds.

Paul Florence, recruit catcher of the Giants, supplied a circuit belt which downed Brooklyn for the third straight time, 5 to 3. A Dodger rally in the eighth drove Fitzsimmons to cover and Jimmy Ring finished the battle, retiring the side after the bases were filled in the ninth.

Philips Wilson, catcher for the Phillies put five hits, including a homer and double into his team's 13 to 7 verdict over the Boston Braves. Four Boston pitchers suffered eighteen safe blows. Knight and Maun of the Phils also were hit hard.

The Boston Red Sox almost broke the winning string of the New York Yankees which now has reached sixteen games. After Sam Jones had been hammered all over the park in the fifth and sixth, Boston manager to hold the Bostonians while his mates gathered enough runs to win a 5 to 3. Earl Combs led the hitters with a double and two singles.

Detroit gained a 7 to 6 verdict over Cleveland, when Benny Karr weakened in the fifth. Before the inning was over the Tigers had scored five runs. Another run in the seventh gave them the contest. Ten doubles were made, each team getting thirteen hits.

Philadelphia won its third game in four starts against the Washington Senators, 3 to 1, with Jack Quinn outpitching Joe Bush. Simmons led the winners at bat with three hits.

SUZANNE, HELEN MAY CLASH IN JUNE MEET

Paris — (AP)—There is a strong possibility that the second meeting between the two queens of the tennis world, Suzanne Lenglen and Helen Wills will occur in the finals of the international hard court championships which begin June 2. While no definite announcement has been made that Mile Lenglen has reconsidered her first decision not to play in the singles in any tournament until Wimbledon, her health has improved so rapidly in recent weeks that she again is ready to enter the lists.

Thirteen Blue Trackmen Have Chance At Letters For Work During Season

Capt. Hipke and Purvis Only Regulars Lost to Coach Denny for 1927 Campaign

Thirteen members of the 1926 Lawrence college track team which walked off with three dual meets and placed second in the state meet, are likely to receive letters as the result of their work during the season. Four managers also will receive either letters or class numerals. Requirements to win a letter state that the athlete must take either a first or two second places in the same dual meet with colleges of equal rating with Lawrence, a third or better in the state meet or a fourth or better in the Midwest conference meet. He also must be eligible when the season ends. Second places in separate meets are not counted, no matter if the athlete gets three during the season.

This means that a Lawrenceman must have won the necessary places either in the dual meets with Lake Forest and Beloit colleges, conference foes, or in the state meet. Places in the Oshkosh Normal meet are not counted this year. At the Lawrence where the Blues ran up over 100 points the large number probably will receive the letters.

Men who have fulfilled all requirements and will get their letters if the college athletic board acts favorably on their records are Capt. Robert Stair, Mineral Point; Capt. Robert Hipke, D. N. Holsen, Palmer; McConnell, Burlington; Ralph Kingsbury, So. Rockford, Ill.; Bert Nason, Wisconsin Rapids; Lester Bayer, Merrill; Alois Fischl, Manitowoc; Arthur Artz, Milwaukee; Don and Doug Hyde, Arnold Purvis, Ray Menning, and Walter Heideman, Appleton.

Lawrence Lyons, Appleton, will receive a letter as manager. Jack Owen, Stevens Point, 1926 numerals as assistant manager, and Charles Scott and Victor Weinkauff, both of Appleton, 1925 numerals as freshmen managers.

Only two of the 1926 lettermen, Capt. Stair and Purvis, are seniors, so that the Blues should again have one of the best teams in the state in 1927. Hipke, Nason, Kingsbury, Bayer, Nason and Heideman are juniors while the Hyde twins are sophomores. Three freshmen, Menning, Fischl and Artz are included in the letter winners. Plenty of other promising material which showed up strong but couldn't quite make the grade, to be counted back, including a large number of frosh. Nobles, dashman and a regular on the relay squad; Jones, half-miler; Van Winter, pole vaulter; Humphrey, 440 and broad jump; Barnard high jump and javelin; Pitner, miler; Rohan, hurdler are included in this group. The Hydes and Noble plus whatever new material that may enter school will be forced to take care of Stair's place in the dashes, while Kingsbury and Pitner will lead the milers when Purvis is gone. The Hydes will fill Stair's place well.

A resume of the season shows that it was a decided success and but for breaks might have been brought to a climax with state title, Oshkosh Normal and Lake Forest, thought to be a hard conference foe, were downed by almost 100-point margins and Beloit, an old rival, by a large score. Then the Denmark finished second to Ripon's all-star team in the state meet. Ripon had about twice as strong a crew as that which Lawrence beat in the final event in the title fight last year, while the Blues were not so strong. Even at that

Police Officer Shoots Himself

Patrolman Kobussen reported for duty as usual Wednesday morning, and members of the police perceived nothing unusual in his actions. No sign of unusual circumstances was apparent, they say. Kobussen asked and obtained leave of several hours, as he had a painting job he wanted to finish.

GOOD POLICEMAN

"He was as good a policeman as I have ever met," Chief Prim said of Kobussen Thursday. "He was altogether fearless, and never hesitated about going on any assignment no matter how dangerous it appeared and he always went out determined to do his work."
 "He was an ardent hunter and fisherman and was never so happy as when he was out in the open. I know that his domestic relations were not happy, but I never suspected that a tragedy would result."
 Kobussen was a member of the police department for about eleven years. He was 35 years old.
 The body was taken to the Schommer Funeral home Wednesday evening. No inquest will be held as there is no doubt about the suicide, Coroner Ellsworth said.
 Kobussen is survived by his widow, Helen, a son, Joseph, a daughter, Rosella; a sister Mrs. Anna Vander Linden of Little Chute; three brothers, William and Joseph of Little Chute, and Anton of Milwaukee, and his step-father, Albert Geisling of Little Chute.
 Funeral services will be held Saturday from the Schommer Funeral home, 210 W. Washington-st.

O'CONNOR SUES CEMENT COMPANY

Seeks $800 for Professional Services Given to Employee of Firm

Suit for $800 for professional services was brought Thursday morning by Dr. D. J. O'Connor against the Universal Portland Cement Co. in the upper branch of municipal court. Dr. O'Connor is suing for services rendered R. L. Nelson, an employee of the company, as the result of an automobile accident on the Appleton-Menasha road May 23, 1925.

It is alleged by the physician that an agent of the company instructed him to care for Nelson, that the company would pay the charges. The Universal Portland Cement Co. admits that Nelson was an employee at the time, but denies liability as it alleges that Nelson was not on business for the company when the accident occurred. No agent of the company had authority to assume liability for payment in the company's name, it is alleged.

TWO ATTEND TAX BOARD HEARING

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of Appleton Chamber of Commerce and J. D. Steele, chairman of the chamber's legislative committee are in Green Bay Thursday attending a public hearing on state administration and state and local taxation, conducted by the Wisconsin legislative interim committee on administration and taxation. Dr. D. O. Kinsman, head of the department of economics at Lawrence college and author of the Wisconsin income tax law, was scheduled to speak at the hearing, but was unable to attend. The session is being held in the Brown-co courthouse.

The Citizens' Tax committee presented its report at this hearing, advising placing the state's business on a budget system. The committee works during the interim between sessions of the legislature and by holding frequent public hearings is able to gather the suggestions and ideas of the people throughout the state for presentation to the legislators. Senator Max Heck of Racine heads the committee and presided at the Green Bay session.

Markets
PRICES RISE ON STOCK MARKET

Advances in Basic Commodity Prices and Higher Earnings Cause Increase

New York—(AP)—Significant advances in basic commodity prices and additional favorable earnings and traffic reports from the railroads formed the background for a further rise in stock prices at the opening of today's market. American sugar, American Smelting, General Electric, United States Steel, and American Lumber led the industrials to higher ground while a brisk demand for Chesapeake and Ohio, Northwestern and Delaware and Hudson featured the initial trading in the rails.

The upward movement gathered momentum as buying orders were distributed over a wide list of standard industrials and specialties. General Electric shot up 6 points to 322 as trading began for the first time in the new shares, which advanced from their initial quotation of 75½ to 80½. American Zinc preferred jumped three and one-half points and Sheffield Steel, Montgomery Ward, Goheen Hosiery, National Cloak and Suit Co., Coca Cola, United Chemical and Mack Trucks were among the many issues to sell 1 to 2 points above last night's closing figures. Atchafon, Northern Pacific and New York Central joined the advance in the carrier stocks. Trading in foreign exchanges was enlivened by rise of more than 40 points in Spanish pesos to 15.20 cents. Sterling held steady at 4.86 3-16 and French francs moved up 5 points to above 3 1-3 cents.

Motor shares which had been lagging behind the rest of the list soon swung into line as buying was influenced by the more encouraging reports of general business. General Motors, Studebaker, Chrysler, Hudson, Packard and Fisher body recorded substantial gains. A novel feature of the forenoon dealings was a jump of 125 points in Texas Pacific land and trust shares on odd lot sales to a new high record of $1,095. The advance in steel stocks was continued with renewed vigor while producers and refiners issues were among the strongest features of the oil group. Call money renewed at 3½ per cent. The closing was firm. Total sales approximately 1,400,000 shares.

JOINT MEMORIAL AND CHILDREN'S CHURCH PROGRAM

Elaborate Service Arranged for Methodist Church on Sunday Morning

Memorial day and children's day will be observed in a joint service at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at First Methodist church. A special offering will be taken and the money collected will be sent to the educational board of Methodist churches at New York. This money is deposited in a loan fund and Methodist students attending college are permitted to borrow money on the recommendation of the pastor and several laymen, to help defray the expenses of obtaining an education. After the student has finished his education he repays the loan. Many students at Lawrence college are taking advantage of the fund according to Miss Esther Miller, secretary of First Methodist church.

Each Sunday school department of the church will have a special children's day program during the Sunday morning meeting. Members of the Grand Army of the Republic have been invited to attend the service. A children choir under the direction of Carl McKee will sing.

An organ prelude, consisting of a composition of patriotic airs will be played by Prof. John Hess Framp-ton. The entire audience will then stand for one minute in silent prayer as a tribute to the dead soldiers. During this time a bugler in a back room of the church will blow taps.

Prof. Framp-ton will then play a three minute number the theme of which will be "Tenting Tonight." Carl McKee will sing Kipling's "Recessional" and Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor of the church will tell the story of the song. The sermon, by Dr. Holmes will be on a patriotic subject.

A class of children who have been on probation since Easter will be admitted into full membership in the church at the service.

MANY FRIENDSHIPS MADE AT LUNCHEON CLUB MEETS

"Although the keynote of clubs such as the Kiwanis is 'Service,' the many valuable friendships that are formed at meetings of these organizations are a valuable asset to the members," the Rev. Henry S. Gatlif, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church said in a talk to the Kiwanis club at Conwar hotel Wednesday noon.

Mr. Gatlif told of his experience with service clubs while in Montana and he also related many of his experiences with the Y. M. C. A. overseas during the World war.

DEFER ACTION ON NEW ROUTE

State Highway Commission
Will Not Add Highway 15
Business Route Here at Present

Mayor Albert C. Rife has received word from O. C. Rollman, Green Bay division highway engineer, that the state highway commission will not do anything about establishing an additional route 15 through the business section of the city until the new course of the regular route has been determined. Mr. Rollman stated that the highway commission had been somewhat uncertain about the new routing of 15 since the S. Cherry-st viaduct has been built and that it did not wish to take action on a business route until this matter was settled. There has been considerable agitation for an additional route 15 through the business district of the city, similar to the plan carried out in Oshkosh. The proposal submitted to the state highway commission for the business route was to have 15 run north on S. Cherry-st to W. College-ave, east on College-ave to N. Rankin-st, and north on N. Rankin-st to E. North-st where it will join the regular highway 15. The business route would be marked with yellow

PART OF CHERRY-ST CLOSED FOR PAVING

Thursday morning the west side of S. Cherry-st south of the viaduct was closed to traffic to prepare the street for paving. In a week or ten days the east half of the boulevard also will be closed. The street department will endeavor to keep one side of the street open to traffic as much as possible so motorists accustomed to using the S. Cherry-st entrance and exit from the city will not be inconvenienced more than is necessary.
